ANNOUNCEMENT.

We are authorized to announce Dan. Bowden, of the Headquarters precinct, a candidate for Assessor of Nicholas County—subject to the action of the Democracy in Primary Election.

"Good Morning."

In greeting the citizens of Paris with a gentle "good morning," the BOURBON NEWS with a heart full of gratitude, thanks it's many newly-made friends for their proffered support and hearty good will toward it's assured success; and through a spirit of reciprocity, will promise them that they will never have cause to regret the advent of it's coming into their midst.

The NEWS shall be in the future, as it has been in the past, a bold and fearless representative of the people, and will hew to the line that it is the province of a good newspaper to publish such news as the people are entitled to, and have reason to expect. It will not be it's mission to make enemies, but friends—however, in walking in the straight line of duty, it would be vain and delusive to expect exemption from the former, in complying with it's obligations to the public.

Fifteen months ago, the NEWS materialized from nothing, and has existed under many adverse circumstances. It now comes to a new field of labor, and, like a willing ax-man in tall timber and a plenty of it, feels that the reward for the sweat of his brow is before him, and it rests with him whether or not that reward shall be garnered unto him.

RODERICK McLEAN, a British crank, attempted to "remove" the Queen of England last Thursday, by firing a Colt's American pistol at her while getting in her carriage. The would-be assassin was seized by the police, and rescued from a mob. The doctors pronounced him a lunatic. His alleged reason for the attempted assassination, was hunger. The Queen held her public dinner that evening, all the same as if she had not been shot at.

A BILL has been passed which requires all railroads in the State, to fence their roads within twelve months. There are 1,800 miles of road in the State, and it is estimated that it will cost $1,000 per mile, making a total of $1,800,000 for fences. This significant sum would no doubt make our mountain friends smile, if they had four or five good roads penetrating their isolated lumber districts.

When in the course of human events, it becomes necessary, were the familiar words and pathetic opening appeal that Jacob made in his revolutionary speech at Louisville, last week. It appears that this little spark when fanned in '61, flickered in '65, and it is hardly probable that will ever be fanned again worth a cent.

THERE are two good planks in the Jacob platform—the opposition of that relic of barbarism—the whipping post, and the encouragement of immigration. The Democratic party, however, might be encouraged, through proper journalism, to adopt those two planks and sail along to glory on the straight ticket.

GARFIELD was the only perfect masculine angel who ever drew a sabre, fired a musket, or spoke a fourth of July oration, according to B. J. E. double-back-acting eulogy. A man never gets great in this country until he's dead; then his greatness crops out big.

If our Legislature will turn to the list of taxable property in the General Statutes, they will find a whiskey tax. Why not in such the assessors to tax all property alike, not exempted by law?

JUDGE BECKNER has been interviewed by a Courier-Journal correspondent at Frankfort, and has seen cause to vent his spleen against speaker OWENS, by the gratuitous charge that the speaker had designedly composed the congressional apportionment with the purpose of giving the Republicans a district. With his characteristic boldness and candor, OWENS answers "that it is a lie of whole cloth, and Beckner knew it at the time." Of course, there was no such purpose, or the committee would not have had thirteen Democrats and two Republicans.

The truth is, the anxious attendance of BECKNER at the capital while RICE was mapping out his congressional districts: the fact that RICE had assigned Clark county to the ninth district, BECKNER's advocacy of Tom HENRY at the Appellate convention, when he was instructed for DAVIS; his voting for RICE as permanent chairman of the convention, when the seventh district delegates selected him as a committee-man on organization with the expectation that he would vote for OWENS, his own district man, and his reappearance at Frankfort as soon as the Legislature determine to raise a new committee, all go to indicate that the Judge is a candidate for Congress in the ninth district if his county goes there, and that he is bidding fair with Eastern Kentucky. We wish Clark to remain in the Ashland district, but if she is necessary to redeem the ninth district, the committee should add Madison also, and give Ex-Gov. McCREARY a chance to measure lances with BECKNER. The former can carry the ninth district, while the latter cannot.

ELLIS, the Ashland confessorist and double-distilled crank, ought to be taken out and hanged, on the general principle that no unauthenticated liar has a right to swear another's life away. NEAL and CRAFT may be guilty, but the public will never be satisfied with their conviction upon such evidence as that upon which they were convicted. During the exciting times, when ELLIS made his first confession, and the outraged public demanded somebody's blood, any banker or preacher could have been hung on ELLIS' word just as well as NEAL and CRAFT. We are firmly of the opinion that ELLIS alone is guilty of the entire crime.

The Kentucky Legislature is trying to legislate Eastern capital out of the State, by the passage of a maximum tariff bill for all railroads in the State. Strong corporations can stand this class of legislation, but weak ones can't; consequently, this will drive weak companies to the wall, and will check the progress of all in course of construction. The best class of legislation for railroads would be to encourage strong competition and invite Eastern capitalists to make their investments wherever they choose to in the State. Should this tariff bill pass, we understand that Huntington will change his Ohio river line to the Ohio side. Massachusetts is the strongest railroad state in the Union to-day, and is not restricted in the least by legislation.

FREIGHTS by wagon from Philadelphia to Pittsburg, in olden times cost $10 per hundred; yet there are men in Kentucky who would legislate every railroad out of the Union, if they had a chance.

REPRESENTATIVE OFFUTT is right in opposing the scheme to adjourn the session until next winter. It would be a freak of folly, and as thin as a ghost.

DICK JACOB has found a good place for one end of his ladder, but the wind is hardly bracing enough to keep the other end from coming down.

It is about time for some enterprising fellow to gather in about a cargo of the rope that hung GRETCH. It will sell equal to the autograph.

CONKLIN is still as mum as an oyster.

The band played "Dixie" for the JACOBITES, down at the Louisville jamboree last week. The dancers to the music of that fine old tune kicked high and reveled in much ethereal sky-scraping of hoofs, but when they changed to "Yankee Doodle" for a kind of desert, the entire motley crew put on angel wings and flew aloft for a few moments to look down on diminutive remnant of the Democratic party, which was numbered among the things that were, for the time being. The few misguided members of the frail delusion, will feel very badly over this when they get sober.

THERE has been some tall kicking in Maysville, among about one hundred Democrats and Republicans who endorsed a document of honesty, probity, &c., for Capt. M. C. Hutchins, who obtained their signatures presumably to get a foreign appointment. It appears that Mr. Hutchins was trying to capture the Maysville post-office by a still hunt. Many of his endorsers wrote and telegraphed withdrawing their signatures, and are indignant at the double-faced game that was being practiced upon them.

JOHN D. WHITE, the acknowledged "Moses" of the Kentucky Republicans, declared himself a staunch supporter of the McHENRY movement until Jacob was made the hero of the occasion, then he pulled in his horns and went entirely back on his encouraging letter to McHENRY.

AROUND THE CIRCLE.

There has been no small-pox in Lexington for three weeks.

Flemingsburg feels lonesome without it's little pet locomotive.

A colored girl from Cincinnati, has introduced small-pox in Winchester.

Albritton & Davis, tobacco men at Paducah, have failed for $90,000.

A Mason county cow has died just after learning how to chew tobacco.

A Maysville man has already contracted for seventeen car load of lake ice.

A terrier dog was sold for $10, at Cowan's Station, Fleming county, last week.

The Hopkinsville ice factory will furnish ice at one quarter of a cent per pound.

Over 300 people are in a destitute condition in the rough lands of Adair county.

Dogs killed and wounded thirty sheep for two men in one night, in Shelby county.

Old Virginia niggers are as thick as hops, along the line of extension of the K. C. road.

The Lexington citizens in a public meeting, have decided against a tax for public water-works.

Coal is selling at ten cents per bushel, and butter at forty cents per pound, in Maysville.

James Collins shot and killed his brother-in-law, Anderson, Amberg at Rockhouse, Letcher county.

Col. Frank Owens, Aid-de-camp to the Governor, has paid the Mason county Guards $2,207 for their services at Ashland.

A man with a lighted candle, attracted a flock of wild geese almost within his grasp, in Scott county a few nights ago.

Polk Johnson, of Louisville, once edited a column entitled "Polk's Talks," and now wants to be Lieutenant Governor.

Ed. Greentickled his paramour's ribs with a soul-searching butcher knife, and landed himself in jail for a small resting spell.

The hammer of a shot gun caught in Mr. McCalliff's coat sleeve, and the load killed Wm. Hawley near Maysville.

Adam Smith, for attempting to pass a counterfeit $20 bill, has been held over for further trial in Maysville, by Mayor Jarlari.

A Breckinridge county girl got the back of a wild cat, and rode sixteen miles on horse back to trade off the hide for ten pounds of coffee.

In Shelby county, Mrs. Vannetta didn't find the chicken thief, but when she let the hammer of her gun down, the load tore the top off of her little step-son's head off.

The City Council of Lexington refuses to grant street railways the right of way over the streets of that city.

A barn filled with machinery and grain, valued at $3,000, the property of Miss Mary Lafon, was burned near South Elkhorn, Fayette county last week.

The "Emmett Guards" is the name of the new military company, composed altogether of the sons of Brin, at Maysville, with E. W. Fitzgerald, for Captain.

The internal revenue collections for the seventh district during the month of February, amounted to $81,836.29, being an increase of $21,817.14 over the same month of last year.

Two Paducah merchants held a hatchet and pistol social last Thursday, and their audience immediately went outside to see a man, without demanding door checks.

Judge Garrett, formerly Judge of Montgomery county, died suddenly of apoplexy, last week. He was aged seventy-three years, and had held office for twenty-eight consecutive years.

Wm. Fleming, of Flemingsburg, came near taking the head off of Theophilus McDonald, for being the leader of a band of fifteen men in a little whiskey social on court day.

Fred. Yancey, a small-pox patient at Augusta, made his escape from his guard while in a state of delirium, and encouraged many by-standers to flee from the approach of the unwelcome presence.

A grocery-store and post-office at Sideview, Montgomery county, burned down last week. The goods were insured for $500. A lightning rod wagon was burned, but the agent managed to be saved and will make his summer campaign as usual.

A Lincoln county man was fined $46 for beating his wife, and running his mother-in-law out of her house "by force of guns." It looks as though this thing called law, will keep on encroaching so that after a while a man won't have any rights at all.

The Grand Jury in the U. S. Court at Louisville, was discharged last week, after making a mum investigation into the crookedness of several Deputy Marshals in Southern Kentucky. From the way that several of them resigned and others were forced out of ranks, it looked as though something was wrong in Denmark.

Two women from Lexington, went down into the southern portion of Harrison county on the Leesburg pike, and sent a colored man with a baby to be left at a certain white man's house. The man refused the present, and the negro had such an elephant on his hands that he wept until a charitable neighboring lady took the waif off his hands.

Hendricks Moxley, bill clerk of the Pacific freight depot at Sedalia, Missouri, has been arrested for a murder committed at Owensville, this State, seventeen years ago. He says he did not commit the murder but was with a man who did the killing. He has been in Missouri eighteen months in the employ of the railroads at Chamouis, at which place he was married nine months ago. He has been in Sedalia about six weeks. He has been tried twice on the charge of murder, and both times the jury failed to find a verdict. He had twice broken jail. Once he was arrested in Bath county, and this is his second arrest after breaking out.

CARLISLE DEPARTMENT.

Miss Mary Anderson, of Mt. Sterling is a guest of Miss Jennie Tilton.

Miss Pauline Gooch, of the M. F. C. is visiting Miss Ida Howard one of her former school-mates.

Dr. R. D. Tilton, who has been attending medical college at Cincinnati, returned home Thursday night with his diploma.

The spelling match breeze has struck Carlisle. On Friday night there was a spelling match at the Court House, where Miss Ida Howard carried off the prize, a book of poems.

As Capt. Henry Green was leaving our depot Monday morning at a lively rate of speed, Wm. Sims, an aged gentleman attempted to jump off, but missed his footing, fell and bruised his head and face considerably; but we are glad to report that nothing serious resulted from his fall.

Our column of Millersburg correspondence came just after we had gone to press. We will try and not get left on it hereafter.

Is a compound of the virtues of sarsaparilla, stillingia, mandrake, yellow dock, with the iodide of potassium, all powerful blood-purifiers, blood-cleansing, and life-sustaining elements. It is the purest, safest, and most effectual alternative medicine known or available to the public. The sciences of medicine and chemistry have never produced so valuable a remedy, nor one so potent to cure all diseases resulting from impure blood. It cures Scrofula and all scrofulous diseases, Erysipelas, Rose, or St. Anthony's Fire, Pimples and Face-erupts, Psoriasis, Eruptions, Itch, Tumors, Tetter, Humors, Salt Rheum, Scald-head, Ring-worm, Ulcers, Sores, Rheumatism, Mercurial Disease, Neuritis, Female Weaknesses and Irregularities, Jaundice, Affections of the Liver, Dyspepsia, Emaciation, and General Debility. By its searching and cleansing qualities it purges out the foul corruptions which contaminate the blood and cause derangement and decay. It stimulates and cultivates the vital function, promotes energy and strength, restores an vigor throughout the whole system. No sufferer from any disease which arises from impurity of the blood need despair who will give AYER'S SARSAPARILLA a fair trial. It is folly to experiment with the numerous low-priced mixtures, of cheap materials, and without medicinal virtues, offered as blood-purifiers, while disease becomes more firmly seated. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA is a medicine of such concentrated curative power, that it is by far the best, cheapest, and most reliable blood-purifier known. Physicians know its composition, and prescribe it. It has been widely used for forty years, and has won the unqualified confidence of millions whom it has benefited.
